

FOREST COUNTY FALLS IN LINE

B. N. Moran Finds County Board Ready To Fight Griffith's Scheme

B. N. Moran, chairman of the Oneida county board and one of the county committee engaged in working against the reforestation evil, was in Crandon, Friday where he secured the co-operation of the Forest county board in fighting with Oneida and other counties against the proposed plans of State Forester Griffith.

Mr. Moran states that the residents of Forest county severely denounce the Griffith ideas and will do all that they can to check the evil. A special committee of the county board was called to meet Mr. Moran and the members promised him every support in the present fight. A committee, consisting of H. A. Fry, T. J. Draeger, A. M. Rogers, L. A. Rogers, and J. M. Whisnand, was appointed to go to Madison during this present session of the legislature for the purpose of obtaining legislation to correct the evils arising from the present system of state reforestation.

It is planned by the forestry department to take three townships in Hiles, two in North Crandon, two in Caswell and the entire town of Alvin in Forest county for reserve purposes.

WHAT IS SOCIALISM?

Otto F. Branstetter Will Lecture In City, March 12

OTTO F. BRANSTETTER

Mr. Branstetter was state secretary of the Socialist party of Oklahoma for several years and at the head of their organization during the constitutional and statehood campaigns.

In an interview Mr. Branstetter said:

"Our government is administered in the interest of property and who ever owns the most property gets the largest part of the benefit. There is a great deal of unjust abuse heaped upon our trust magnates and a certain type of muck-racker is found fond of telling you that the government is administered in their interests. It is not true. The government is not administered in the interests of Messrs. Rockefeller, Morgan, Harriman, and others of their kind. It is administered in the interest of their property. They derive all the benefits simply because they own the property.

"If some one else owned the property, he would get the benefits which now go to them on account of their ownership.

The pictures at the Majestic this last week have been exceptionally good. Despite the cold weather large crowds have attended the programs.

BOWLING GAMES

Night Hawks Lose And So Do The Doctors

At the Lawrence alleys the City team won from the Night Hawks Friday night. The game was easily one of the best of the season and showed that the City team is in excellent form and will be in trim for the Minneapolis tournament. The total score was 2647 to 2317.

By defeating the Doctors Monday night the Barbers won the championship of the city. The game was the fifth played between the two teams each having previously won two games.

The Barbers naturally feel very elated over their victory and the physicians accept their defeat gracefully.

MRS. STEWART IN TROUBLE

Antigo Woman Arrested On Charge Of Blackmail

Mrs. Maud Stewart of Antigo, wife of A. D. Stewart, formerly of Rhinelander, was arrested in Chicago Monday by federal detectives charged with sending a blackmail letter to Mrs. H. E. Van Ostrand of Antigo. She was held in $3,000 bond by United States Commissioner Foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and 12 year old son were in Chicago on their way to Florida. Mr. Stewart was not with his wife when she was placed under arrest. Mrs. Stewart was overcome and medical aid was necessary to revive her. The warrant on which she was arrested calls for her removal to this state for trial.

CITY WILL PAY TWICE A MONTH

Council Passes Resolution On Tuesday Night—$66,000 School Levy Made

Hereafter the employees of the city of Rhinelander will receive their pay checks twice each month instead of once a month as heretofore. This is the result of a resolution passed at the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night. The resolution was introduced by Alderman Frank Pecor. The employees of the city greatly appreciate this action as it is frequently very inconvenient to wait a month before being paid. The teachers of the city, who hold their positions under contract, do not benefit by the new order.

At the Tuesday night meeting of the council the school levy of $66,000 recommended by the school board to the council was accepted and levy made.

MAY BUILD NEW SWEDISH ACADEMY

Rev. Silfversten Thinks Rhinelander Fine Location For Institution

While in the city Monday Rev. Carl J. Silfversten, pastor of the Lutheran Zion church in Ironwood Mich., told of a movement on foot to establish a new Swedish Lutheran academy somewhere in Wisconsin. Rev. Silfversten expressed the opinion that Rhinelander afforded an excellent location for such an institution and thought that with a little active work on the part of the business people here it would be an easy task to secure it. The proposition will be brought before the Swedish Lutheran conference in Iron Mountain, Mich., in April and if Rhinelander is going to do anything it should be done before that time.

An educational institution of this kind would bring about two hundred students to the city from all parts of this state and adjoining states. Rev. Silfversten said that one of the things necessary to obtain the academy would be the donation of a site. He intends to visit the city later and endeavor to interest the citizens in the matter.

LAFLIN'S ADDRESS IS INSPIRING

Many Hear Milwaukee Attorney At St. Augustine's Church Sunday

On Sunday evening, at St. Augustine's church, Mr. H. N. Laflin, one of the attorneys for the Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. of Milwaukee, delivered an inspiring address to the laymen of the church, pleading with them the priesthood of the laity and the responsibility of the layman for doing the Master's work. Referring briefly to child labor, the social evil, inadequate wage, and other social problems, Mr. Laflin urged the people to remember that to the church had been entrusted the Saviour's teaching and power to solve these problems. He urged that there was no place for pessimism in the future of our country, that the Christian church was awakening to her duty throughout the land, and that as the power and teachings of Jesus Christ energized and inspired the various efforts for solving social problems, they must be successful. He closed by insisting that every Christian man and woman boy and girl, must bear some part in this work, must do their share.

The Rev. Fr. F. W. Penfold, Rector of St. Luke's church, Racine, Wis., will speak at St. Augustine's church next Friday, March 7th. Father Penfold has the reputation of being one of the most eloquent preachers in Wisconsin, and the people of Rhinelander are to be congratulated at having the opportunity to hear him. He will address the women at 3:00 P. M. and the entire congregation at 8:00 P. M. Visitors will be welcome to both services. It is hoped a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing this talented priest.

ONE SUNDAY SERVICE

At St. Augustine's next Sunday there will be only one service at 11:00 A. M. The bible class for Wednesday, March 12, will be postponed to Friday March 14. Father Johnson has been called to Chicago on business, leaving Friday night, March 7th, and returning in time for the services on Friday March 14. On Sunday Father Johnson will take the services at St. Paul's by-the-Lake, Chicago, whose Rector is seriously ill at St. Luke's hospital. Father Johnson will be the guest of Bishop Tull in Chicago.

For a timely topic, President Ashton read an article on the Playground Movement, which was discussed at some length by the Club.

A social hour followed. This was the last literary meeting of the year, the next being the annual election of officers.

VISITING NURSE INSPECTS PUPILS

School Board Gives Miss Bing Authority To Go Into City Schools

At the regular meeting of the school board Monday night it was voted to give Miss Bing, the visiting nurse here, authority to go into the city schools for the purpose of inspection of children as to their physical condition. Miss Bing will work definitely with Supt. W. P. Colburn. In cases where children are found to be afflicted physically the parents will be notified. This is a step in the right direction and may later on lead to medical inspection in the schools.

Among other business transacted at the meeting it was voted that the recommendation to the city council as to levy of the building fund be raised from $20,000 to $40,000.

EVENTS OF WEEK IN OTHER TOWNS

Items Of More Or Less Importance Boiled Down From Neighboring Exchanges

Ironwood—

The Central school, the oldest school building in this city, is in ruins as the result of a fire which originated from the furnace in the basement. A session of night school was being held on the top floor when the fire broke out but the teachers and pupils had no difficulty in escaping. The structure was erected in 1855 at a cost of $25,000.

Merrill—

Fearing an epidemic of small pox the High school and the second ward school were closed a short time last week in order that the buildings be fumigated. One of the students developed a slight attack from the disease and many pupils were exposed. In order to prevent a spread of the disease Health Officer Hinckley advised that a general vaccination be held.

Washburn—

Eben Olson, former highway commissioner of Hayfield county, is under arrest, charged with embezzlement. As administrator of the estate of the late N. G. J. Dahlstrand of Port Wing, Olson is accused of having refused to turn over $212.79 to Alfred Forseth who succeeded Olson as administrator. Forseth, who is county treasurer, is the one who makes the complaint. Olson is extensively known in Hayfield and Ashland counties.

Escanaba—

Twenty years ago Mrs. P. McCawley of this city was robbed of $300 by a youth named Thomas Connelly. A short time ago Connelly died in Chicago and left a letter in which he stated that all his wealth, consisting of about $5,000 be given to

Mrs. McCawley in restitution for the amount he had stolen from her. In the letter Connelly wrote that he had made the $5,000 on the capital he got by robbing Mrs. McCawley.

Ladysmith—

A movement is on foot to organize a chautauqua for Ladysmith, to start the coming summer and perhaps be an annual event thereafter. It is proposed to use the fair grounds as a site for the chautauqua, which will probably be held in June, if the project meets with sufficient encouragement to warrant the undertaking. The chautauqua will last a week and an excellent variety of high-class talent and attractions can be secured through the Extension Division of the state university at much lower cost than if secured from any lyceum bureau, as the university will not figure any profit in computing the expense of such service.

Washburn—

Boat owners at the head of the lakes, notably the Pittsburg Steamship Co., have ordered their engineers to report for duty March 5th with instructions to begin the work of repairs five days later. This early start in fitting out the vessels is taken as an indication that lake men are looking for an early opening of navigation, some of them placing the date as early as the first of April, and they propose to be ready for business by that time.

Eagle River—

The operators of the drilling out fit who have been prospecting for ore in the vicinity of Dam Lake since December, have been forced to discontinue work on account of too much snow. They returned to their homes Thursday pending the time when they may resume their investigations.

Park Falls—

Last fall domestic science was added to the curriculum of the local high school and has proven wonderfully successful. The sale of candles and other products made by the students in this department has almost paid the entire cost of the course, and the only objection which can be found against it is that while this class is in session other ers are broken up, leaving the boys in these classes with a period in which they are idle, and this has suggested the adoption of a course in manual training, which would remove this objection and add another good feature to the excellent training which is being given in the high school.

MARCH WEATHER

The weather man says that we will have a very warm spell from the fifth to the eighth followed by a warm rain. From the thirteenth to the twenty-fourth will be a storm period but not of the usual blustery March type. Rain is promised for both Palm and Easter Sundays as well as on St. Patrick's day. The nineteenth and twentieth are to be a pleasant break in this storm period. The twenty-fifth to the twenty-eighth are also scheduled to be warm and pleasant followed by two days' warm rain. As there is very little snow and no great depth of ice, it is likely that farmers can get to work on their ground fairly early this year. The last two days of March and the first four of April are predicted to be clear, cool and frosty.

FOR SIX YEAR TERM

The assembly by a close vote Thursday passed a bill by Assemblyman Hedding, as amended, to make the term of probate judges through out the state six years.

As originally introduced by Mr. Hedding it extended the term of the Milwaukee county judges from four to six years. Mr. Spoor added an amendment making the extension apply all over the state. The vote on the bill was 50 to 45.

Will reveal its superior quality and convince you of the wide difference that really exists in lumber. You may imagine that lumber is all the same, but you were never more mistaken in your life, if you imagine that. There's as much difference between two boards that pass for the same grade as there is between a plug and a thoroughbred.

We invite a critical examination of our stock, simply because we know it to be much better than the average. QUALITY: That's our hobby. When we sell you a bill of lumber we want to know positively that you will be satisfied that you've got the best your money will buy, and will come to us when you want something else in building material.

not only keeps cold out, but conserves body-heat; body-fat serves the same purpose, it enables us to resist unsettled elements and serves as the great source of our body-heat. Greater body-heat means richer blood, more fat, not obesity but fat which the body consumes for warmth, vitality, resistance-power—as a furnace consumes coal for heat—Scott's Emulsion does this.

A teaspoonful after each meal makes body-heat healthy, active blood—sharpens the appetite and makes all good food do good.

It dries out and keeps out colds by raising endurance-power and creating strength.

PRESCRIPTION

For a Long Life.

This is the prescription for a long life given by an old gentleman in Connecticut, who is ninety-nine years old and still well and cheerful. "Live temperately, be slow to anger, don't worry, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air, and, above all, keep cheerful."

Should the system get run down—digestive organs weak—the blood thin and sluggish, take Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the medicine—body-building properties of cod's livers, with the useless grease eliminated and tonic iron added. We regard Vinol as one of the greatest body-builders and strength-creators in the world for aged people.

Mrs. Mary Ivey, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people, you would be unable to supply the demand; it is the finest tonic and strength-creator I ever used."

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction.

P. S. If you have any skin trouble try Sazo Salve. We guarantee it. John J. Reardon Druggist, Rhinelander, Wis.

If you wish to know what the officials of the city of Rhinelander are doing, you must take the New North. It is the official city paper. It is also the only official county paper for Oneida county. Know what is going on in your city and county.

It is useless for candidates to ask credit at this office. Pay when you order the work done. You will be better satisfied and so will we. Political debts are not easily collected.

At the last council meeting it was decided not to hold registration days this spring. This is entirely within the province of the council and mayor. We are not arguing as to its wisdom but stating the facts.

The Webb bill which forbids the shipping of liquors into dry states has been passed over the veto of President Taft by many more than the two-thirds majority in both houses and is now a law.

Few men have taken the president's chair having higher respect from the people than does President Wilson. He has been wise since his election and in consequence has grown in the eyes of the American people.

The highest priced foods now in use are the milk products, and still they are most sensitive to contamination and most easily adulterated. The city should guard its people against either of these dangers. It is a simple process.

Charles Morrill does not feel he can give sufficient time to the office of supervisor, so will not become a candidate again this spring and has announced this. James Baker has announced his candidacy for this office. Mr. Baker has been an excellent alderman and we believe he would be an excellent member of the county board from the fifth ward. We are glad to see him a candidate.

When Senator LaFollette entered the U. S. Senate seven years ago, it was said by his enemies that he would not measure up to the great man there. It must be in physical stature for he has over a hundred pounds of them in intellect and dogged determination. His measures are now adopted as the republicans and his physical value for playing railroad is one of his great measures that has become a law. Wisconsin is at the front in Washington.

FOREST AGENT GRIFFITH
All that no lack has been said by Forester Griffith on his work for the past two years he has been a great success. This book is along the line of the articles he has been press agent for in many news papers of the state this winter. If the people of the state are not fooled into the Griffith Forestry Policy it will not be his fault. Surely Griffith is a great press agent. We are satisfied he is a better press agent than practical forester if his Trout Lake nursery is a fair model of one of his attempts. All we ask is that the legislature send a committee up here, then, we have no fear of being swallowed up by Griffith.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S CABINET
President Wilson's cabinet is complete and the list is as follows:
Secretary of state, Wm. J. Bryan of Nebraska.
Secretary of war, Lindley M. Garrison of New Jersey.
Army general, Jas. McReynolds of Tennessee.
Postmaster general, Representative Albert M. Bursell of Texas.
Secretary of navy, Josephus Daniels of North Carolina.
Secretary of interior, Franklin K. Lane of California.
Secretary of agriculture, David A. Houston of Missouri.
Secretary of commerce, Representative Wm. C. Redfield of New York.
Secretary of labor, Representative Wm. B. Wilson of Pennsylvania.

ABOUT THAT FURNITURE
In the last issue of the News, our esteemed contemporary had much to say about the extravagance of the McGovern administration and inferred it is all right for the governor to sit in easy chairs so long as the people have to foot the bills, but the fact is, Governor McGovern took no part in the purchase of the gleaming new furniture in his offices. This furniture was purchased four years ago now as part of the new capital furnishings.
Governor McGovern should not be blamed for something done during the Davidson administration when no man could predict who would be the next governor. It is our duty to be honest even with our enemies.

Why did the News drop the discussion of the income tax law like a hot potato when they had said they would show they were correct in their statements about the amount that would be collected? We would like to know if they are still contenting there will not be six hundred dollars collected in the entire county? Speak out now and say you wrote without knowledge of the facts or that you were trying to deceive the public.

OUR DUTY TO WILSON
We are now living under a democratic administration after sixteen years of republican rule. It is no one's fault that we have a democratic president except the failure of Taft-Carnegie-Aldrich and others to heed the will of the people. Taft was easy picking for "big business" and the "special interests".
He showed his entire inability as an executive. President Wilson comes to the chair, we believe, with a determination to do right by humanity. He has some bad ones in his party to deal with so far as the best interests of the people are concerned, but we do hope all good people in and out of public life irrespective of party ties will give the national executive every help.
President Wilson has not traveled through all the roads of a political career and we are glad he has not. He comes to his office with a trained alert mind and we hope an honest heart to do the best he can. It is our duty to give him aid and encouragement in this great undertaking.

DISGUSTING TO AMERICANS
It is disgusting, indeed, to read an insinuating message from Ambassador Wilson to our government in the following tone:
"Our government was never in closer relations with the Mexican government than at present. The new Mexican administration continues to give to the American ambassador the highest proof of its confidence and esteem."
This government should hardly require its representative to hobnob with revolutionists who have no legal claim to the government but have triumphed through treachery and assassination. The fact that Madero and Suarez were mysteriously killed, while in the possession of the new government against the protest of the U. S. should prompt the ambassador to aloofness from the beasts, "so called men," who have proved themselves capable of the basest treachery. American interests should be protected but not at the expense of honor by flirting with such monsters as Diaz and Huerta. It is nauseating in the extreme.

ADULTERATED BUTTER
Many prosecutions in the federal court are expected to follow the recent seizures by revenue agents of more than 250,000 pounds of butter in Chicago cold storage houses. Unlawful adulteration was charged.

A report of the seizures and findings of the government chemists has been forwarded to Commissioner Cabell in Washington with recommendations by Col. L. G. Nutt, revenue officer in Chicago.

The confiscation is the result of an examination of millions of pounds of butter in the seven Chicago warehouses. The revenue agents charge adulteration with more than 16 per cent water.

Millions of Pounds Moved
In December when the inquiry was begun there were stored in Chicago more than 25,000,000 pounds of butter, which is about half of the actual supply of butter in storage in the entire United States. Since the beginning of the investigation about 20,000,000 pounds have been moved from the city.

The warehouse owners assert it was moved in the natural course of commerce and that there was no intention to evade inspection.

Samples from more than 3,000 tubs were taken and analyzed at the headquarters of the revenue department. It was estimated that approximately one-third of the butter supply in Chicago is illicitly adulterated with water moisture.

Federal officials declare that this is a prime factor in the high cost of living and rigorous inspection will be made of all butter that enters the warehouses.

Manufacturers of butter in Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, and Nebraska involved may be prosecuted for the alleged adulterations.

The penalty for violations of the revenue laws regulating the sale of butter is a fine of $5,000 and a tax of 10 cents for each pound adulterated.

Revenue Agent Nutt has been assisted in the investigation by J. D. Bullock and special revenue agents.

It is high time the butter trust is brought to justice. It has been an open secret for a long time that the price has been regulated by the Elgin board and that the price to the consumer has not been a question of cost but price fixing by the trust.

More, it has been an open secret that a large number of the creameries has not lived within the law but has knowingly overloaded the butter with water. Water is expensive to the consumer at forty cents a pound but it makes a fine profit to the butter manufacturer if he does a large business.

The creamery man who is willing to poison his consumers to save a penny sum is not going to remain within the law except a club is held over his head. There it is the duty of the community to hold the club in readiness for use.

If exposing these methods is "butting in" then it is the duty of every good citizen to "butt in". If you feel the butter you purchase is not up to grade send it to J. Q. Emory, Dairy and Food Commissioner and have it examined and let him prosecute the law breaker. The city of Rhinelander should have her milk and butter tested.

We will send out packages as far as 75 miles from Rhinelander up to 11 pounds free of charge via parcel post.

Mrs. Anna Weibezahl, who recently purchased the Robert Freikhart place, had the misfortune to lose her farm home by fire last Wednesday. The fire originated from a spark from the chimney which fell upon the roof and before Mrs. Weibezahl was aware of it the fire had made considerable progress and only had time to save a small portion of the household goods. As she had no insurance it was a total loss.

A Newspaper Man Writes an Open Letter to Dr. Hartman

I give below an extract from a letter written me by the business manager of one of the leading newspapers of this country. He said in part:
"I was very much interested in your article about the use of alcohol in patent medicines. As you know, your ad. has been running in my paper more or less for the last twenty years. I have been frequently criticized for advertising your remedy on the ground that it contained alcohol and was therefore harmful."

"I am not a doctor myself and do not profess to know anything about such subjects. But I wish I had been supplied with the information contained in your article years ago. Your article exactly meets all the objections that I have had to contend with."

"That alcohol is a useful drug and is the active principle of wine, beers, cider and other beverages is to me a new thought. That it is a useful remedy and assists the other ingredients in making a cure, I cannot doubt after reading your article."

"I think so much of your article that I am going to have a reprint of it made and strike off thousands of them."

which I shall mail to objectors as they may arise in the future.

"Your articles convey a great deal of information to the public. I think the newspapers can well afford to publish them gratis, for the articles you have been furnishing me lately constitute some of the best things that occur in my paper. I wish you continued success in your magnificent work."

My dear Sir:—I appreciate your letter. It is not the only one of the kind I have received.

I know that Peruna has been greatly misrepresented and misunderstood. I have not had time heretofore to answer these objections. I have been too busy in my many enterprises. My great fear, with its various departments, has so thoroughly engaged my enthusiasm and attention in times past that I could give little heed to critics.

But I have taken up the matter now. My farm is in the hands of intelligent overseers and my other business is all organized in such a way that I can give my attention to these matters. I am proposing now to explain to the public all there is to say about Peruna, knowing full well as soon as the public understands it that the malicious things said about Peruna will be quickly forgotten. PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say, this formula is now put out under the name of K-TAR-NO, manufactured by K-TAR-NO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

WILSON SPEAKS TO THE NATION

Inaugural Address Delivered by the New President.

SEES WORK OF RESTORATION

Task of Victorious Democracy is to Square Every Process of National Life With Standards Set Up at the Beginning.

Washington, March 4.—President Wilson's inaugural address, remarkable for its brevity, was listened to with the greatest interest by the vast throng which was gathered in front of the capitol's east portico, and at its close there was heard nothing but praise for its eloquence and high moral tone. The address in full was as follows:

There has been a change of government. It began two years ago, when the house of representatives became Democratic by a decisive majority. It has now been completed. The senate about to assemble will also be Democratic. The offices of president and vice-president have been put into the hands of Democrats. What does the change mean? That is the question that is uppermost in our minds today. That is the question I am going to try to answer, in order, if I may, to interpret the occasion.

Purpose of the Nation.
It means much more than the mere success of a party. The success of a party means little except when the nation is using that party for a large and definite purpose. No one can mistake the purpose for which the nation now seeks to use the Democratic party. It seeks to use it to interpret a change in its own plans and point of view. Some old things with which we had grown familiar, and which had begun to creep into the very habit of our thought and of our lives, have altered their aspect as we have latterly looked critically upon them, with fresh, awakened eyes; have dropped their disguises and shown themselves alien and sinister. Some new things, as we look frankly upon them, willing to comprehend their real character, have come to assume the aspect of things long believed in and familiar, stuff of our own convictions. We have been refreshed by a new insight into our own life.

We see that in many things that life is very great. It is incomparably great in its material aspects, in its body of wealth, in the diversity and sweep of its energy, in the industries which have been conceived and built up by the genius of individual men and the limitless enterprise of groups of men. It is great, also, very great, in its moral force. Nowhere else in the world have noble men and women exhibited in more striking form the beauty and energy of sympathy and helpfulness and counsel in their efforts to rectify wrong, alleviate suffering, and set the weak in the way of strength and hope. We have built up, moreover, a great system of government, which has stood through a long age as in many respects a model for those who seek to set liberty upon foundations that will endure against fortuitous change, against storm and accident. Our life contains every great thing, and contains it in rich abundance.

Evils That Have Come.
But the evil has come with the good, and much fine gold has been corroded. With riches has come inexcusable waste. We have squandered a great part of what we might have used, and have not stopped to conserve the exceeding bounty of nature, without which our genius for enterprise would have been worthless and impotent, according to be careful, shamefully prodigal as well as admirably efficient. We have been proud of our industrial achievements, but we have not hitherto stopped thoughtfully enough to count the human cost, the cost of lives snuffed out, of energies overtaken and broken, the fearful physical and spiritual cost to the men and women and children upon whom the dead weight and burden of it all has fallen pitilessly the years through. The groans and agony of it all had not yet reached our ears, the solemn, moving undertone of our life, coming up out of the mines and factories and out of every home where the struggle had its intimate and familiar seat. With the great government went many deep secret things which we too long delayed to look into and scrutinize with candid, fearless eyes. The great government we loved has too often been made use of for private and selfish purposes, and those who used it had forgotten the people.

At last a vision has been vouchsafed us of our life as a whole. We see the bad with the good, the debased and decadent with the sound and vital. With this vision we approach new affairs. Our duty is to cleanse, to reconsider, to restore, to correct the evil without impairing the good, to purify and humanize every process of our common life without weakening or sentimentalizing it. There has been something crude and heartless and unfeeling in our haste to succeed and be great. Our thought has been "Let every man look out for himself," let every generation look out for itself, while we reared giant machinery which made it impossible that any but those who stood at the levers of control should have a chance to look out for themselves. We had not forgotten our morals. We remembered well enough that we had set up a policy which was meant to serve the humblest as well as the most powerful, with an eye single to the standards of justice and fair play, and remembered it with pride. But we were very heedless and in a hurry to be great.

Things to Be Altered.
We have come now to the sober second thought. The scales of heedlessness have fallen from our eyes. We have made up our minds to square every process of our national life again with the standards we so proudly set up at the beginning and have always carried at our hearts. Our work is a work of restoration.

We have itemized with some degree of particularity the things that ought to be altered and here are some of the chief items: A tariff which cuts us off from our proper part in the commerce of the world, vitiates the just principles of taxation, and makes the government a little instrument in the hands of private interests; a banking and currency system based upon the necessity of the government to sell its bonds fifty years ago and perfectly adapted to concentrating cash and restricting credits; an industrial system which, take it on all its sides, financial as well as administrative, holds capital in leading strings, restricts the liberties and limits the opportunities of labor, and exploits without renewing or conserving the natural resources of the country; a body of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertakings or served as it should be through the instrumentality of science taken directly to the farm, or afforded the facilities of credit best suited to its practical needs; water courses undeveloped, waste places unreclaimed, forests untended, fast disappearing without plan or prospect of renewal, unregarded waste heaps at every mine. We have studied as perhaps no other nation has the most effective means of production, but we have not studied cost or economy as we should either as organizers of industry, as statesmen, or as individuals.

Government for Humanity.
Nor have we studied and perfected the means by which government may be put at the service of humanity, in safeguarding the health of the nation, the health of its men and its women and its children, as well as their rights in the struggle for existence. This is no sentimental duty. The firm basis of government is justice, not pity. These are matters of justice. There can be no equality or opportunity, the first essential of justice in the body politic, if men and women and children be not shielded in their lives, their very vitality, from the consequences of great industrial and social processes which they cannot alter, control, or singly cope with. Society must see to it that it does not itself crush or weaken or damage its own constituent parts. The first duty of law is to keep sound the society it serves. Sanitary laws, pure food laws, and laws determining conditions of labor which individuals are powerless to determine for themselves are intimate parts of the very business of justice and legal efficiency.

These are some of the things we ought to do, and not leave the others undone, the old-fashioned, never-to-be-neglected, fundamental safeguarding of property and of individual right. This is the high enterprise of the new day: to lift everything that concerns our life as a nation to the light that shines from the hearthfire of every man's conscience and vision of the right. It is inconceivable that we should do this as partisans; it is inconceivable we should do it in ignorance of the facts as they are or in blind haste. We shall restore, not destroy. We shall deal with our economic system as it is and as it may be modified, not as it might be if we had a clean sheet of paper to write upon; and step by step we shall make it what it should be, in the spirit of those who question their own wisdom and seek counsel and knowledge, not shallow self-satisfaction or the excitement of excursions whither they cannot tell. Justice, and only justice, shall always be our motto.

Nation Deeply Stirred.
And yet it will be no cool process of mere science. The nation has been deeply stirred, stirred by a solemn passion, stirred by the knowledge of wrong, of ideals lost, of government too often debauched and made an instrument of evil. The feelings with which we face this new age of right and opportunity sweep across our heart-strings like some air out of God's own presence, where justice and mercy are reconciled and the judge and the brother are one. We know our task to be no mere task of politics but a task which shall search us through and through, whether we be able to understand our time and the need of our people, whether we be indeed their spokesmen and interpreters, whether we have the pure heart to comprehend and the rectified will to choose our high course of action.

This is not a day of triumph; it is a day of dedication. Here muster, not the forces of party, but the forces of humanity. Men's hearts wait upon us; men's lives hang in the balance; men's hopes call upon us to say what we will do. Who shall live up to the great trust? Who dares fail to try? I summon all honest men, all patriotic, all forward-looking men, to my side. God helping me, I will not fail them; if they will but counsel and sustain me!

Possibly the era of superstition is withering away. One of the great steamship lines is to start out its vessels on Fridays hereafter. Yet the canny traveler still refuses to sleep in upper 12.

WILSON HONORED BY FINE PARADE

New President Reviews Immense
Inaugural Procession.

AVENUE A GLORIOUS SIGHT

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington, March 4.—Woodrow Wilson, as ex-president of Princeton, rode down Pennsylvania avenue today, and later rode up the same avenue as president of the United States, and as the highest officer of government a few minutes thereafter reviewed the multitudes of soldiers and civilians which, with playing bands and flying flags, marched by to give him proper official and personal honor.

For several nights Pennsylvania avenue has been a glory of light. Today it was a glory of color, movement and music. Here are 300,000 inhabitants of the city of Washington. Its temporary population is nearer the half million mark. The absentees from the flanking lines of the parade were mostly the policemen, who were given orders to protect the temporarily vacated residences of the capital.

Woodrow Wilson asked that "Jeffersonian simplicity" be observed in all things which had to do with his inauguration. The command for Jeffersonian simplicity seems to be susceptible to elastic construction. There was nothing savoring of courts or royalty, but there was evidence in plenty that the American people love uniforms and all kinds of display which can find a place within the limits of democratic definition. It was a good parade and a great occasion generally.

Through Vociferous With Joy.
The inhibition of the inaugural ball and of the planned public reception at the capitol had no effect as a bar to the attendance at this ceremony of changing presidents. Masses were here to see, and other masses were here to march. There was a greater demonstration while the procession was passing than there was four years ago. Victory had come to a party which had known nothing like victory for a good many years. The joy of possession found expression in steady and abundantly noisy acclaim.

Escorting the President-Elect to White House at Previous Inauguration.

President Taft and President-elect Wilson were escorted down the avenue by the National Guard troop of cavalry of Essex county, New Jersey. The carriage in which rode Vice-President-elect Marshall and President-elect Woodrow Wilson was surrounded by the members of the Black Horse troop of the Culver Military academy of Indiana. This is the first time in the history of inaugural ceremonies that a guard of honor has escorted a vice-president to the scene of his oath-taking.

Parade a Monster Affair.
The military and the civil parade, a huge affair which stretched its length for miles along the Washington streets, formed on the avenues radiating from the capitol. After President-elect Wilson had become President Wilson and Vice-President-elect Marshall had become Vice-President Marshall, they went straightway from the capitol to the White House and thence shortly to the reviewing stand in the park at the mansion's front.

The parade, with Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, United States army, as its grand marshal, started from the capitol grounds to move along the avenue to the White House, where it was to pass in review. The trumpeter sounded "forward march" at the instant the signal was flashed from the White House that in fifteen minutes the newly elected president and commander-in-chief of the armies and navies of the United States would be ready to review "his troops."

It was thought that the parade might lack some of the picturesque features which particularly appealed to the people on former occasions. There were Indians and rough riders here not only when Roosevelt was inaugurated, but when he went out of office and was succeeded by William H. Taft. The parade, however, in honor of Mr. Wilson seemed to be picturesque enough in its features to appeal to the multitudes. They certainly made noise enough over it.

The procession was in divisions, with General Wood as the grand marshal of the whole affair and having a place at its head. The display, in the words invariably used on like occasions, was "impressive and brilliant."

Regulars in First Division.
The regulars of the country's two armed services naturally had the right of way. Maj. Gen. W. W. Wotherspoon, United States army, was in command of the first division, in which marched the soldiers and sailors and marines from the posts and the navy yards within a day's ride of Washington. The West Point cadets and the midshipmen from the naval academy at Annapolis, competent beyond other corps in manual and in evolution, the future generals and admirals of the army, had place in the first division.

All branches of the army service were represented in the body of regulars—engineers, artillery, cavalry, infantry and signal corps. The sailors and marines from half a dozen battle-ships rolled along smartly in the wake of their landmen brethren.

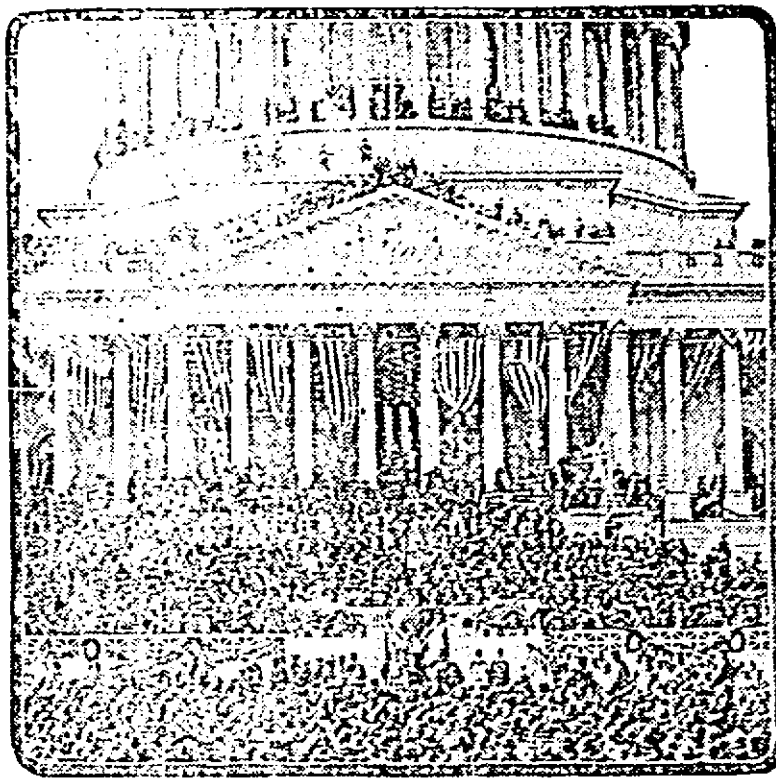

The National Guard division followed the division of regulars. It was commanded by Brig. Gen. Albert L. Mills, United States army, who wore the medal of honor given him for conspicuous personal gallantry at the battle of San Juan hill. General Mills is the chief of the militia division of the United States war department.

The entire National Guard of New Jersey was in line, and Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Maine and North Carolina were represented by bodies of civilian soldiers. Cadets from many of the private and state military schools of the country had a place in the militia division.

Veterans and Civilians.
The third division of the parade was composed of Grand Army of the Republic veterans, members of the Union Veteran league and of the Spanish war organizations. Gen. James E. Stuart of Chicago, a veteran of both the Civil and the Spanish wars, was in command.

Robert N. Harper, chief marshal of the civil forces, commanded the fourth division. Under his charge were political organizations from all parts of the country, among them being Tammany, represented by 2,000 of its braves, and Democratic clubs from Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities.

They put the American Indians into the civilian division. The fact that they were in war paint and feathers helped out in picturesqueness and did nothing to disturb the peace. Members of the United Hunt Clubs of

WASHINGTON'S OATH-TAKING

New York Scene of His Induction—Story of Jefferson's Simplicity a Myth—"People's Day" When Jackson Took Office.

By E. W. PICKARD.
Woodrow Wilson is the twenty-seventh man to be inaugurated president of the United States, but the twenty-fifth to be inaugurated in Washington. George Washington took the oath of office in New York and John Adams in Philadelphia. Moreover, the Father of His Country was not inaugurated on March 4.

Arriving at Elizabethtown Point, N. J., on April 23, he entered a barge rowed by 12 pilots clad in white, and passed through the Kill von Kull into New York harbor, which was full of all manner of craft gaily decorated and loaded with cheering crowds. The Spanish man of war Calistron broke out the colors of all nations, and fired a salute of 13 guns, to which the American frigate North Carolina responded.

Arrival at New York.
As Washington stepped ashore at Murray's wharf the guns of the Battery roared out their salute and Gov. George Clinton and many members of congress saluted the first president. He was taken to the residence of Samuel Osgood, and for an entire week there was revelry throughout the city.

Finally, on April 30, all was ready for the inauguration. Washington was escorted to Federal hall, then the capitol, which stood on the site of the present sub-treasury at Wall and Broad streets. The streets had been filled since sunrise with waiting crowds, and the enthusiasm was intense. In the senate chamber Washington was joined by Adams, Knox, Hamilton, von Steuben and a few others, and all of them appeared on the balcony. Robert R. Livingston, chancellor of New York, administered the oath and cried "Long live George Washington, president of the United States!" whereupon there broke out a mighty shout of cheering, ringing and the noise of cannon. Returning to the senate chamber, President Washington read his inaugural address and the history of the United States under the constitution began.

Myth About Jefferson.
If you are a good Democrat, no doubt you believe that Thomas Jefferson rode unattended to the capitol on horseback, that his horse to the fence, and was inaugurated with less ceremony than would attend the taking of office by a keeper of a dog pound. Such is the old story, but it is pure myth and is first found in a book of travels in the United States written by John Davis, an Englishman. Davis asserted that he was an eye witness of the simple ceremony which he described, but it has been proved that he was not in Washington at the time.

The inauguration of Jefferson, which marked the defeat of the Federalist party of Hamilton, Washington, Adams and Jay, was the first to take place in Washington. The newly established national capital, then but a few months old, contained only 2,000 inhabitants, many of them negroes; the houses were mostly huts and the streets muddy roads. The big event was described in the Philadelphia Aurora of March 11, 1801:

"At an early hour on Wednesday, March 4, the city of Washington presented a spectacle of uncommon animation occasioned by the addition to its usual population of a large body of citizens from the adjacent districts. A discharge from the company of Washington artillery entered in the day, and about one o'clock the Alexandria company of riflemen with the company of artillery paraded in front of the President's lodgings. At 11 o'clock Thomas Jefferson, attended by a number of his fellow citizens, among whom were many members of congress, repaired to the capitol. His dress was, as usual, that of a plain citizen, without any distinctive badge of office. He entered the capitol under a discharge from the artillery. As soon as he withdrew a discharge from the artillery was made. The remainder of the day was devoted to purposes of festivity, and at night there was a pretty general illumination."

Jackson Almost Mobbed.

When Andrew Jackson was elected in the fall of 1823 the people of the west and the radical elements of the south scored a triumph and he was hailed as a "man of the people." This character was emphasized on the day of his inauguration the following March, for never before had such a huge motley throng gathered in Washington. Jackson's wife had died not long before, and he asked that the ceremonies be made very simple, but the masses were too hilarious to heed the request. The weather was pleasant and the east front of the capitol was used for the first time for the inauguration. In front of it surged 10,000 persons who were restrained only by a great iron chain. Jackson rode to the capitol on a white horse and went through the ceremonies with dignity, and started back to the White House. Then began his troubles, for the people broke loose with a vengeance.

"The president was literally pummed by a motley concourse of people, riding, running, belters-kelter, striving who should first gain admittance into the executive mansion, where it was understood that refreshments would be distributed," wrote a contemporary, Mrs. Samuel Harrison Smith. In their mad rush the crowds smashed furniture and dishes and seized the food as if they were starving. "The confusion became more and more appalling. At one moment the president, who had retreated until he was pressed against the wall of the apartment, could only be secured against serious danger by a number of gentlemen linking arms and forming themselves into a barrier. It was then that the windows were thrown open, and the living throng found an outlet. It was the people's day, the people's president, and the people would rule."

Taken figuratively, that might not be so poor a description of the plight of presidents in these later days.

Exposure Killed Harrison.
For 12 years the Democrats controlled the destinies of the country, and then the Whigs elected William Henry Harrison, who was inaugurated March 4, 1841. By this time transportation was made easier by the building of railways and the crowd that flocked to Washington was immense. It was much better behaved than that which "honored" Jackson, but it was hungry for offices.

Cold, wintry blasts swept the streets of Washington that March day, and Harrison, already old and rather feeble, rode his white horse without cloak or overcoat, and with his hair in salute to the cheering crowds. The line of march was unprecedentedly long, and so was the inaugural address, and then the president led the procession back to the White House. The exposure was too much for him and within one month he was dead.

Lincoln's First Inauguration.
Immensely dramatic was the first inauguration of Abraham Lincoln in 1861. From the day of his election threats against his life were numerous, and detectives discovered and foiled an organized plot to assassinate him on his way to Washington. The big bodies of troops that had been employed at former inaugurations merely to add pomp to the occasion now were used for the protection of the president. As he rode to the capitol in a carriage he was preceded by a company of sappers and miners; a double file of cavalry rode on each side, and in the rear were infantry and riflemen. On house tops and in windows all along Pennsylvania avenue were posted riflemen.

The day had opened cloudy, chilly and dismal, but as the president stepped forward to take the oath from the aged Chief Justice Taney the sun burst through the clouds and shone full on the bowed head of the man who was to give up his life for the country he loved. Lincoln himself noticed this "sunburst" and drew from it a happy augury.

GUERNSEY CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Committee Is Appointed To Secure Pure Bred Sire For Rhineland

A meeting of the Oneida Guernsey Club was held on Friday evening at the office of the agricultural representative and was well attended. Agricultural Representative Luther talked up "Pedigrees and their Value." Grade Guernseys were discussed and the advisability of securing a pure bred Guernsey sire for use in the city of Rhineland was presented and a committee was appointed to push this matter. A good pure bred Guernsey sire would prove of great worth to those keeping cows in the city and Rhineland or would soon be advertising for sale good grade Guernsey calves. This would help the farming community about the city. Considerable enthusiasm was developed over increasing the membership of the club. A good number of those attending the meeting were local business men. The way in which some of the business men are taking hold of things agricultural portends much good to the county.

A meeting was held last Saturday night at the office of Brown Brothers. Some of the business men are becoming enthusiastic over the advantages of the silo to a farm. This meeting was held to devise means by which farmers might be helped to secure silos this coming summer. Right now this early with out great effort it is possible to count up ten men in Oneida county who will build silos this summer. Farmers ought to set their minds upon this matter pretty soon and secure their seed corn early. The crop must be well on the way by the time that the silo is started. Let's make the number of silos built in Oneida County this summer at least twenty-five. It may be possible to announce something in the way of a silo building and loan association in the near future.

The agricultural representative visited Tripoli on Saturday and located a potato fertilizer plot on the farm of J. M. Scott, chairman of the town of Lynne. This about completes the number of plots located. One will be on the farm of F. B.

Campbell, Three Lakes, one upon the farm of John Myers, chairman of the town of Moulton, one upon the farm of Forbes and Wilson in the town of Crescent, one upon the farm of Brown Brothers in the town of Sugar Camp, one upon the farm of Ira Smith of Cassian township, one upon the farm of Henry Blumenstein of the town of Woodruff, and one upon the land used by the agricultural representative on the fair grounds. The trial plots will be of one acre in extent, one-half to be fertilized with a commercial fertilizer and one-half run without fertilizer as a check. These plots are not run to benefit the owners directly. It will no doubt cost the owners some extra time to do the extra work necessary. But they are willing to do the extra work to find out if commercial fertilizer will help the potato crop in this county. These plots are all located in the most advantageous points in their respective communities and in most cases on main roads where passers by may see them. By means of these plots we hope to determine whether commercial fertilizer is worth while. These plots ought to prove of a great deal of worth to the county.

One week from the time that this appears the second annual Farmers' Course will be in full swing. This course will be held in the City Hall at Rhineland and will be given by the professors of the College of Agriculture. Every number will be worth while. It is hard to tell whether soils and dairy day on Thursday, or potato day on Friday, or grain and development day on Saturday will be the great day. So it would be wise to try to be on hand every day to be sure not to miss the best day. Come every day. Ladies and interested children are invited to come along with the men. This course will interest city people as well as farmers. The course last year was a great success. It should surely be a success this year and will be if the people turn out. Try to come every day, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 13, 14, and 15.

Possibly the Reason.

REVOLVING CHURN IS LATEST

Barrel or Box, Forming Body, Is Rev-olubly Mounted on Supporting Frame—Works Fast.

A new type of churn has been patented by an Illinois man. In this type, instead of the churn body standing still and paddles operating it, the churn body revolves rapidly and the paddles also are active. A barrel or box, forming the churn body, is revolvably mounted in a supporting frame. By means of a handle the barrel can be revolved on its axis. At the opposite side from the handle is a gearing that operates paddle blades inside the barrel. Consequently, when the han-

BEEF PULP CHEAP COW FEED

When Dried It Is Good Substitute for Corn Silage—Now Largely Fed by Dairymen.

For the dairy farm without the advantage of corn silage, a substitute may be had in dried sugar beet pulp. This feed is now being largely fed by dairymen, as it secures the advantages of roots at the lowest cost and is a great saving in time and labor. Dried beet pulp is a far better and more economical food for milk cows than fresh grains or rye or corn slop from the distilleries. While both of these by-products may be had at nominal price, the cost of hauling in all weathers more than overbalances all other advantages. A car load of dried beet food bought the first fall month will be enough to feed a large herd during the five winter and spring feeding months.

Dried beet pulp is what is left of sugar beets after taking out the sugar, and it is worth about as much for making a good quality of milk as before the sugar was extracted. In ordinary stock beets there is only about 10 per cent. of dry matter, while in sugar beets the dry matter is about 20 per cent. A popular ration for cows in milk is as follows: Five pounds of dried beet pulp, 4 pounds of corn chop, 1 pound of cotton seed meal, 18 pounds of fine cut clover hay. The beet pulp is soaked in water for a few hours before feeding. This ration is divided into two equal parts—one part is given in the morning, the other part in the evening. The cows are given all the wheat straw they will eat twice a day. Some dairymen mix the meal with the soaked beet food and give a little over one large scoop full twice a day to each cow. After this is eaten one quart of wheat bran is given to each cow. The hay is given after the beet food is eaten, and afterward the straw. Wheat straw if not eaten is used for bedding.
